

Take ACTION.

Be a part of the movement that builds relationships, affirms humanity, and celebrates inclusivity at Colorado State University and in the Northern Colorado community by supporting the ACT Human Rights Film Festival. No other event in the region unites campus and community audiences to witness and discuss social justice issues, asks us to think critically about what it means to be human, and motivates individuals to help transform communities.

Support the ACT Human Rights Film Festival and stand among local businesses who recognize this tremendous opportunity to emerge as leaders and champions of social justice – at home and afar. There are multiple opportunities to support ACT with varying levels of brand recognition for your business throughout the festival.

What can your gift do?
